In Association with the J. M. Smucker Co., ALDI Voluntarily Recalls Select Jif® Products Sold in the U.S. due to Potential Salmonella Contamination

Batavia, Ill. (May 25, 2022) – In cooperation with J.M. Smucker Co., and out of an abundance of caution, ALDI is voluntarily recalling 28 oz. packages of Jif® Creamy Peanut Butter. This is a precautionary measure due to potential contamination with salmonella.

According to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), consumption of food contaminated with Salmonella can cause salmonellosis, one of the most common bacterial foodborne illnesses. The most common symptoms of salmonellosis are diarrhea, abdominal cramps, and fever within 12 to 72 hours after eating the contaminated product. The illness usually lasts 4 to 7 days. Most people recover without treatment. In some persons, however, the diarrhea may be so severe that the patient needs to be hospitalized. Older adults, infants, and persons with weakened immune systems are more likely to develop a severe illness. Individuals concerned about an illness should contact their health care provider.

Upon notification from the supplier, ALDI immediately removed the affected products from all stores in the U.S. The items were also available for purchase through the company's partnership with Instacart, a grocery delivery service.

The affected products are:

Product Name	Package Description/Size	UPC Code	Lot Code
Jif® Creamy Peanut Butter	28 oz. plastic jar	051500241776	1274425 - 2140425

To date, no illnesses related to these products have been reported. No other ALDI products are affected by this recall.

ALDI takes the safety and integrity of the products it sells seriously. If customers have product(s) affected by this voluntary recall, they should discard it immediately or return it to their local store for a full refund.

Customers who have been impacted by this recall should complete the recall form at www.jif.com/recall-form. For more information customers can visit www.jif.com/contact-us or call 800-828-9980 Monday through Friday, 8 AM to 5 PM ET.

ALDI sincerely regrets any inconvenience and concern this recall may cause.
